SAN FRANCISCO IS A BURNING MASS OF RUINS TODAY THE RAGING FIRE IS COMPLETELY BEYOND CONTROL

No Water and No Dynamite to Stay Course of Awful Conflagration Which is Sweeping Everything Before It.

Dead May Number Several Thou- sands While Property Loss Will Reach $300,000,000

SCENE IN THE STRICKEN CITY BEGARS DESCRIPTION

Over 150,000 People Homeless—Government Will Appro- priate Million Dollars and is Sending Relief to Destitute People—Fire Spreads to Residence Section—Everything is Chaos—General Funston Wires "It Could Not be Worse"—Firemen are Dropping from Exhaustion—Dead May be Buried at Sea to Prevent a Plague.

Oakland, Cal., April 19.—At least 2,000 lives have been lost in the earthquake and the conflagration which followed. The hospitals and improvised asylums with difficulty are able to care for the injured, of whom hundreds have been treated. The panic-stricken people who thus far have escaped are leaving the city in large numbers.

The flames ran along a path in the triangular circuit from the start in the early morning, jockeyed as the day waned, left the business section devastated and skipped in a dozen directions to the residence portion of the city. At nightfall the fire had made its way over into the north beach section and south along the shipping section, down by the bayshore over the hills and across toward Third and Townsend streets. Warehouses and manufacturing concerns fell in its path. This completed the entire district known as South of Market street. How far south the flames extended has not been told, as that part of the city is shut off from the city proper.

NEW YORK, April 19.—At 11:15 today the Postal received what is probably the most important dispatch from the stricken city thus far:

"Fire is still raging and the entire city is doomed. They have no water except along the bay shore and are dynamiting buildings in an effort to check the flames.

"The powder supply is nearly exhausted, even to the powder in the government arsenal, which has been emptied. The fire cannot be checked until it burns itself out. Every building in the business section and one half of the residential section has been destroyed now. Not a large building is left."

PROPERTY LOSS EXCEEDS $200,000,000.

Oakland, April 19.—(Bulletin)—The fire at San Francisco has assumed such frightful proportions that dynamite, gun cotton and even field-guns are being used to blow up a wide track at a time. Flames are rushing through the fire residence section of the city having considered with the aid of the earthquake shocks the demolition of the entire business district. One hundred and fifty thousand persons are homeless. The property loss will exceed $200,000,000. Thirty thousand houses were partially or wholly destroyed. Now 10 square miles are in flames or already devastated. No human power can stop the conflagration. The panic is increasing among the thousands still held in the city. It is almost impossible for more than a few to get away at a time. No one is allowed to enter. Fire is mowing down blocks of fine residences. Three thousand regular troops and as many more militia men patrol the streets, preventing robbery. A conservative estimate today placed the number of dead at 2,000. The number of persons killed by the fall of buildings during the earthquake has been doubled by the number killed by fire.

MAYOR M'CLEERY SENDS MESSAGE TO THE STRICKEN CITY.

Newark, Ohio, April 19, 1906.
To the Mayor,
San Francisco, Cal.,
Accept the sincerest sympathy of all our people in your dire distress. The citizens of Newark, Ohio, offer aid.
S. H. M'CLEERY, Mayor.

GREAT FIRE IS UTTERLY BEYOND CONTROL.

Oakland, April 19.—The fire at San Francisco is utterly beyond control and the entire city is doomed. More than 150,000 people are already homeless. The city is now a shambles. Firemen are dropping at every point from exhaustion, some sleeping under their wagons. There is no water and the supply of dynamite is exhausted, so the buildings cannot be blown up to stop the fire's progress. The excitement is greater today than yesterday and the people helpless from fear. Women and men are fainting in the streets while families have become separated, driving parents to distraction for the safety of their little ones. Everything is chaos. The situation could not be worse unless a volcano began pouring lava over the stricken metropolis.

MAY BE DRIVEN INTO THE SEA.

San Francisco, via Oakland, April 19.—(Bulletin)—Unless some power stays the onrush of flames 20,000 homeless persons who spent the night under the trees in Golden Gate park, will be swept into the sea by noon.

Early this morning the fire reached Divisadero street, more than a mile from the water front. There the flames seized hungrily on the wooden buildings that lined both sides of the street for the section is of the older part of the city and quickly consuming them, passed on more toward the west. Golden Gate park is directly in the path of the fire. With a water service that is entirely too feeble with even tons upon tons of dynamite being exploded vainly in its path, it seems that the fire must surely make its way to the park. There it can run riot among the trees, vines, pavilions, grandstands and other inflammable material.

It will be a matter of only a few hours when it will reach the coast and there is no place whither the refugees in the park can flee, except into the waves, should the flames encompass them.

Already the pangs of famine, both of food and of water, have fastened themselves on San Francisco. The burning of the wholesale district yesterday shortened the supply of groceries, but the destruction today by fire of numberless retail grocery stores has entirely wiped out the provision supply.

FIRE REACHES BEST RESIDENCE SECTION.

Oakland, Cal., April 19.—The following message was received from the Western Union operator at the ferry building, at 7:10 a. m., today:

"It is reported that the fire has just reached Nob Hill. Nob Hill is the finest residential quarter of San Francisco.

"The Fairmount Hotel, the new structure erected by Mrs. O'Brien, is in flames. Costly buildings and residences are burning."

FIRE SPREADS TO RESIDENCE DISTRICT.

Oakland, Cal., April 19.—The fire which devastated the business section of San Francisco yesterday has spread to the residence district. It is raging unchecked this morning, and the entire city seems doomed to destruction. Nothing to eat can be had except in the outlying districts. Several square miles have been fire-swept and all efforts to check the flames have failed. The city is under military rule and is entirely isolated. Not a wire connects it directly with the continent. Three thousand regular troops and as many more militiamen patrol the streets.

Three men caught robbing bodies have been shot to death in the streets. All three were hit in the backs. There may be more who have been thus executed.

Scores of injured were burned to death in the Mechanics' Pavilion, and many dead cremated.

Hundreds of inmates of the State Insane Asylum at Agnew, were killed by the collapse of the building. Hundreds escaped and are roaming at large. The United States mint is ablaze and all big hotels and theaters are destroyed. The postoffice and city hall are in ruins. Thirty thousand houses were partially or totally destroyed, it is estimated.

Conservative estimates place the number of dead at from 1,500 to 2,000, and other estimates at over 2,000. One hundred and fifty thousand are estimated to be homeless.

SUFFERING

Of Little Children is Pitiable and the Groans of the Dying Are Horriifying.

(Bulletin.)
Oakland, Cal., April 19.—The dread of the tidal wave which usually follows an earthquake has seized the terror-stricken people of San Francisco and coast town, and thousands of them are fleeing to the hills. Many almost too frightened to move are huddled together in the parks.

Actual hunger has already added to the suffering and food must be had today. The supply of drinking water has been cut. Thousands are thirsting. Twenty-five fires are now raging. A high wind from the west is sweeping the flames back across the city.

Scores of people are tramping homeless about, only half clothed. The suffering of children during the night was pitiable. Despite orders of Funston to his soldiers to shoot down any persons caught robbing the dead, vandals are at work. Saloons have been broken into and many men are lying about the streets beastly drunk with the flames roaring about them. Several have been shot.

The crash of falling walls is heard on every side and the groans of the unfortunates planned down in the wreckage and doomed to slow death as the flames are upon them are terrible. Hundreds of bodies have been seen in the ruins.

FIRE IS STILL RAGING.

San Francisco, April 19.—The fire this morning is still raging and is working its way eastward.

MILLIONS IN GOLD.

New York, April 19.—The National Park bank this morning transferred through the sub-treasury to San Francisco between $2,000,000 and $1,000,000 in gold.

NEW YORK FIRM GIVES FIFTY THOUSAND.

(Bulletin.)
New York, April 19.—Guggenheim & Sons have contributed $50,000 to the San Francisco sufferers. This message was sent by them to General Funston:

"We desire to express through you our deepest sympathy in connection with the appalling disaster which has visited San Francisco. We have wired the sum of $50,000 to the Union National bank of Oakland, which they were instructed to place at your disposal for the relief of suffering and distressed. Please use it in accordance with your own best judgment."

EUROPE IS HORRIFIED.

London, April 19.—The entire European press is full of horror at the great loss of life and destruction of property in San Francisco. All express their sympathy.

KAISER'S SYMPATHY.

Berlin, April 17.—Emperor William today cabled Roosevelt expressing the sympathy of Germany to the American people.

AID FOR DESTITUTE.

Washington, April 19.—Secretary Taft, Chief of Staff Bell, Quartermaster General Humphreys and Commissioner General Sharp spent nearly the entire night sending orders to General Funston and other officers in the west relative to the relief of the sufferers at San Francisco. An order was sent to Vancouver barracks to ship immediately 200,000 rations. Thousands of tents were ordered sent from various army posts on the coast. Officers were instructed to accompany the shipments to see they are properly delivered. A telegram from Major Knauthoff filed at Oakland, reports the army depot at San Francisco, adjoining the Palace Hotel, destroyed.

WIRE FROM FUNSTON.

Washington, April 19.—General Funston this morning wired the military secretary: "Your dispatches received. Have already filed several to you. Unable to inform you now as to full extent of disaster."

GOVERNMENT'S AID.

Washington, April 19.—Immediately after convening today the Senate passed a resolution appropriating $500,000 for the relief of the San Francisco sufferers. The House will amend this, making the appropriation $1,000,000.

MORE RATIONS ORDERED.

Washington, April 19.—The Secretary of War directed the army commissary general to send 200,000 more

AWFUL SCENE BEYOND DESCRIPTION.

Oakland, April 19.—No Dante in his wildest imagination, ever dreamed of a fraction of the horror that gripped San Francisco when darkness fell last night. With no lights and no water, the half-crazed people were grouped in the darkness and the ruins of homes searching for their loved ones.

The saturnalia of crime and looting which began when the soldiers sacked the saloons broke out afresh with the darkness and unnumbered untold crimes were committed on every side. No historian will ever describe the torture which the homeless suffered. None dare attempt to recount the agonies of those who sought the ruins of their homes for missing members of their household. None may think of the woes and doom of those buried beneath the wreckage or consumed by the remorseless flames. The few cool heads who managed to dominate during the day, felt their hold slip with the oncoming night and when physical blackness fell like a pall over the doomed city, its stricken people seemed to give way to despair. The morgues of the city are also so overcrowded that the navy department at Washington has been appealed to to send the Pacific squadron in the harbor of San Diego to assist the city authorities in burying the dead at sea, thus striving to prevent a plague which is deemed inevitable unless help outside is obtained.

rationers from Denver and other western supply depots, to San Francisco. This makes a total of 400,000 rations ordered to San Francisco.

SANTA ROSA RUINED.

Los Angeles, Cal., April 19.—Santa Rosa city has been destroyed and 100,000 persons are homeless. The dead may reach into the hundreds. No a business building has been left standing.

BROWN BROS. GIVE HELP.

New York, April 19.—Brown Bros. & Co. today subscribed $10,000 for the earthquake sufferers.

DEAD NUMBERS THOUSANDS.

San Francisco, via Oakland, April 19.—It looks now as if the entire city would be consumed. The fire is sweeping toward the residence district and threatens to destroy all property which escaped the earthquake. Five thousand persons are dead and 150,000 are homeless. United States soldiers are shooting down many ghosts caught robbing the dead or looting the wreckage. The property loss is increasing hourly and will reach $300,000,000. Early reports of the dead, thought to be exaggerated, now seem badly understated. Many believe the toll of dead and injured will reach 10,000.

PEOPLE LINE UP FOR A DRINK OF WATER

San Francisco, April 19.—The Western Union and Southern Pacific buildings were totally destroyed today. The fire is burning rapidly in a diagonal line up the hill commencing at McAllister and ending at Battery street and Mission street as far as Sixteenth street. The water supply has given out. The wind is rising and the military authorities have just forbidden any one to enter the city. The situation has not improved and already there is great suffering for food and water. The writer saw thousands of people lined up in the park awaiting soldiers to distribute water.

CURRENT THEATER NEWS. Mr. George Cohen, author of "Fifty-Five Minutes from Broadway," one of the biggest hits of the year, and also of "George Washington, Jr.," another success, has signed a contract to provide Nat Goodwin with a new comedy for next season.

Klaw and Erlanger have announced that next season they will star Nellie Bergen in a new comic opera. The music will be supplied by A. Baldwin Sloan and the book will be from the pen of Harry B. Smith. This advance of Miss Bergen's is due to the success she is at present meeting with the Sousa-Smith opera, "The First Lance."

It is rumored which Nat Goodwin is signing will extend from New York to San Francisco. Mr. Goodwin is presenting a farce from the pen of William C. and Cecil D. Mills, entitled "The Genius." His presentation is attracting a great deal of attention because of the fact that he is introducing to the public a new stage beauty in the person of Edna Goodrich. Miss Goodrich is said to be of the same type of beauty as Miss Maryline Elliott. Mr. Goodwin promises to develop her ability as an actress. In view of the present strained relations between Mr. Goodwin and Maryline Elliott, these circumstances are causing much discussion.

A life size cast of Fay Templeton as she appears in "Fifty-Five Minutes from Broadway," is being utilized by Klaw and Erlanger to advertise the star in Mr. Cohen's successful play. The cast is placed in the lobby of the theaters prior to Miss Templeton's engagement, and it is said to attract much attention.

Washington, D. C., is bestowing capably audiences upon each performance of "The Little Gray Lady" Channing Pollock's drama dealing with life in that capital city. No success has been more unlooked for this year than that of this drama, for its story is one of the simplest embodied in any play brought out this year; however, its appeal to real emotion is so genuine and true that it arouses in each member of the audience the response which is the cause of the big success of every being presented it.

WHAT THE KIDNEYS DO.

Their Unceasing Work Keeps Us Strong and Healthy.

All the blood in the body passes through the kidneys once every three minutes. The kidneys filter the blood. They work night and day. When healthy they remove about 500 grains of impure matter daily, when unhealthy some part of this impure matter is left in the blood. This brings on many diseases and symptoms—pain in the back, headache, nervousness, hot, dry skin, rheumatism, gout, gravel, disorders of the eyesight and hearing, dizziness, irregular heart, debility, drowsiness, dropsy, deposits in the urine, etc. But if you keep the filters right you will have no trouble with your kidneys.

Charles W. Cooper, employed at Geo. Hermann's clothing store, and living at 223 Hoover St., Newark, O., says: "Backache distressed me continually for a long time. There was a dull aching in the loins and my back was very weak. Besides this I had trouble with the kidney secretions which were irregular and disturbed my sleep at night. I was usually just as tired in the morning as when I went to bed. Nothing I could get seemed to help any until I began using Doan's Kidney Pills procured at Crayton's drug store. I had heard a great deal about the wonderful action of this remedy on the kidneys and bladder, but I was greatly surprised by the quick effect in my case. I improved rapidly under the treatment until the pain in the back ceased and the action of the kidneys became natural. A few boxes made a complete cure."

An Amherst Lot

Is the best proposition, either for a home or an investment, that you can secure anywhere.

East Newark is growing very rapidly—new houses are going up on every side. AMHERST, located on East Main Street, opposite the Children's Home, is the choicest location in this section of town.

AMHERST has city water, both gas companies, city and interurban cars, a good school, free mail delivery in fact, all city improvements. But being beyond the city limits you only have county taxes to pay. This one fact alone is a big item to any one locating their home, as the low tax rate means a big saving in a year's time over the city taxes.

The lots range in price from $100 up to $500. Five dollars makes the first payment on any lot—$1 to $3 weekly pays for it. You'll never miss the money—paying for a lot on these easy payments.

Take an hour's time and visit AMHERST the soonest possible. We know the lots will suit you, but YOU won't know this until you see them. Ten minutes time on the grounds will give you a better knowledge of the lots than an hour's talk on our part would do.

Come at once while there are plenty of lots to choose from; they are selling rapidly. You will find us on the grounds from 8:30 A. M. until dark.

Pitcher Grubbs Leaves Fold.

As briefly stated yesterday Pitcher Frank Grubbs is the first pitcher to leave Manager Bates' fold. It is no because of his lack of ability as he was one of the most promising of the lot. Grubbs has been suffering from a sore arm ever since the first day's practice and Dr. Evans, who was consulted, told the player that instead of rheumatism, as he supposed, that one of the muscles was wrenched. Grubbs was told to give the wing a rest. He left Wednesday afternoon for Columbus, where he will remain for a month. He may decide to give up baseball entirely. Grubbs played two years in the Central league and after the Canton club took the Wayne franchise. Grubbs went to Garrett, Ind., where he played independent ball during the rest of the season. 19-2t

San Francisco's Awful Calamity.

The worst affliction that has ever devastated an American city was the terrible earthquake that visited San Francisco on Wednesday morning. The shocks, unprecedented in duration and extent, caused the fall of many buildings and the outbreak of numerous fires. The awful conflagration which ensued was uncontrollable from the fact that the city's water mains were destroyed by the shocks and there was no adequate means of extinguishing the flames.

As a consequence thousands of people were killed, many more injured, and a hundred or two hundred thousands rendered homeless, while all the buildings in a large area of the most valuable and important section of the city were destroyed.

The loss in property is variously estimated, the figures reaching as high as $200,000,000.

The unquenchable fires were still raging today with no indication when the conflagration can be brought under control.

It will take some time yet to accurately measure the loss of life and property, but enough is known to show that the calamity in all respects is the greatest that has ever visited an American city.

The situation of the people of San Francisco is one that cannot fail to appeal most strongly to the practical sympathy of their fellow-citizens generally. Their plight is one which calls for immediate and most efficient help. "That which will be coming without delay there can be no doubt. The whole Nation took pride in the great and beautiful city on the Pacific coast, whose inhabitants number natives of every State and to which multitudes from every section of the country made pilgrimages of pleasure or business every year. The thoughts of this magnificent city in ruins, with thousands of its best citizens lying dead and a multitude of others wandering homeless and mourning their lost loved ones, while at the same time themselves threatened with death from fire or falling walls, is enough to stir the hearts of every generous-minded American.

SHAW'S IDEAL MAN.

Why British Playwright Prefers Dillane, Why Person to a Saviour.

George Bernard Shaw, the English playwright and critic, has recently been giving his ideal of a perfect man, and, as one might expect, it is quite different from other people's and very far removed from that of Eugene Sandow, says a London cable dispatch to the Chicago Inter Ocean.

"I have a great respect for Herr Sandow," Mr. Shaw said at a meeting of vegetarians, "but whenever I go to hear him lecture he is always saying, 'Why don't you go to be like me?' And I look at him, and I see a magnificent man, so muscular that he can hardly walk. Well, I want to walk. And perhaps he points out another and says, 'You're a wretched, etiolated creature. Look at this splendid fellow Sandow, and I don't know why you are not like him.'"

The stomach and the man apparently does not mind. But," Mr. Shaw went on with great earnestness, "I don't want people to hit me in the stomach. You will see this man with a board on his chest containing, say, twenty people, three elephants, a grand piano, a sofa and things of that kind. Undoubtedly that is a very remarkable thing, but I don't want to do things like that."

"The object of my life, instead of accumulating these things on me, is to keep them off me. Here is Herr Sandow going through life seeing how many of these heavy things he can pile on top of himself, so I go through life seeing how many I can get rid of. As a matter of fact, I object to carrying a brown paper parcel. I contend that the highly developed man does object to brown paper parcels. I present all these attempts to make me a muscular person. I want to be a delicate person. One of Mr. Wells' 'Martians,' for whom everything physically energetic is done by machinery—that is the sort of person I want to be."

"Daniel, we read, was favored by God because he gave up meat. After some time he became handsome. That struck me very much indeed. Indeed, I am not sure that it did not persuade me to adopt a vegetarian diet. But unfortunately the Scriptures have fallen into disrepute, and if you mention Daniel nowadays people don't know whom you are talking about. I, as a literary person, am saturated with the Bible. My style is very largely formed on the Bible, but I find that if I quote it nobody understands. I believe it is one of the rules that a censor in this country (England) shall not allow long passages from the Bible to be spoken on the stage. But in my plays I take whole chapters, word for word, and the modern censor, never having read the Bible, doesn't know it."

REVIVAL VERSUS RAGTIME.

One Effect of the Torrey-Alexander Campaign in Philadelphia.

"If the Torrey-Alexander revival has accomplished nothing else in Philadelphia it has made one old man happy," recently declared William Jacoby, associated with Dr. Torrey in the Moody church, Chicago, says the Brooklyn Eagle. "This old man," he continued, "was riding out to Broad and Wharton streets on a Fifteenth street car. He did not know me, but smiled kindly as he proffered me a bag containing gum drops. I took one, and he asked me if I would like to go to hear Dr. Torrey preach and Mr. Alexander sing. When I replied that I was going there myself he became confidential. 'My home's worth living in now,' he said. 'Every one right with God?' I interposed.

"Yes; we always have been church members," he replied, "but since Mr. Alexander came the girls have quit playing ragtime music on the piano. You see, for years past the old hymns and sweet melodies that their mother and I loved got old fashioned to them. When the revival began, both my girls joined the Alexander choir, and now we have the 'Glorious Song' and other hymns instead of 'There'll Be a Hot Time' and other such stuff. Mother and I had quit trying to sing with our girls, but now they insist that we join in the choruses."

Musical Shave.

"I had a sort of odd experience yesterday," said a Denver barber the other morning as he shaved a customer, says the Denver Post. "A man came in here for a shave. He got in my chair, and I began scraping him. I have a peculiar way of taking short pulls at my razor on a customer's cheeks, and I was doing it on him when I heard a tune that sounded like 'Yankee Doodle.' Then I discovered that the man, assisted by me, was playing the tune. By increasing and decreasing the space in his mouth he caused my razor to make hollow sounds while scraping over his face. We finished 'Yankee Doodle,' and then we played 'Back, Back, Back to Baltimore' and 'Dixie.' When I finished shaving him he smiled and said:

"If I ever need a partner I'll look you up."

"Partner in what business?" I asked. He handed me his card. He was Perry Corvey, the musical clown."

Told For Attending Church.

Peter Paulson of Cashion, Wis., must drive ten miles to church every Sunday for fifteen years or pay an inheritance of $1,500 left him by his mother, Mrs. Mary J. Paulson, says a St. Paul (Minn.) dispatch to the Chicago Tribune. The case involving the construction of the woman's will was argued before the circuit court at LaCrosse last year and was appealed to the supreme court. It has been decided by the latter court, upholding the decision of the lower court. Mrs. Paulson gave her son $100 a year for fifteen years, on condition that he attend a certain church all that time, unless sick or prevented by other unavoidable occurrence.

BEECH WOODS.

A peculiar happening took place here yesterday. Mr. Sunday Easter, day of Columbus, and Mrs. Ode Winegarner took advantage of this occasion and were united in marriage.

A wandering woman traveling on foot with a small dog and a hand basket, has been seen on several occasions around Oakthorpe the past week. When last seen she was traveling the road towards Thornville. This has been causing much excitement among the people. Thus far no one has been able to identify her.

The Christian Union church at Oakthorpe is undergoing repairs. A new vestibule is being installed in the edifice.

Lawn Miller and Henry Sam have moved their saw mills to Henry and John Young's woods where the oak trees will be sawed out. This is the largest tract in this section of the country and the woodmen now have felling the timber. This work will no doubt absorb a greater part of the summer.

Dunn of Boone, and Palmer Howard of Walnut. The first of the ticket will be nominated without opposition as they are second term candidates.

A new feature is now being observed here. Bert Lowe is playing with a plow that throws three furrows, drawn by a traction engine.

Tom Gordon and wife spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Sam Covey.

Several evenings ago a unusual occurrence took place at the "Hite covey." The night was very dark and some hunters along the bank switched a powerful search light into the water. The reflection frightened a flock of wild geese and so they had risen a short distance above the water, and they fell straight down like cannon shot, dealing fearful blows with their wings. They beat against the trees in feeble escape, and many of them were stunned.

Miss Nannie Love who underwent an operation for appendicitis, some time ago, has almost recovered.

Mrs. George Jones came Saturday and Sunday with friends in LaCrosse.

Miss Hedd Chaffant, who underwent an operation for appendicitis, is slowly recovering.

Hurt in a Wreck.

New Florence, Pa., April 19.—Nine passengers on the New York express on the Pennsylvania railroad were injured in a recent collision with a freight train near here. It is said the injuries are not serious. The express stopped to extinguish a fire in the baggage car when struck by the freight.

Mr. Walter Fairall spent Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Grant of Sandy Point.

Mrs. Lucy Gray's daughter, Maude, of Haverhill, spent Friday in town.

Quite a large party of young people gathered at the home of J. H. McKnight Saturday night, the feature of the evening being a masquerade party, nearly every one representing a different nation. CLARENCE H. WHITE TO LOCATE IN EAST

Leader in "New" Photography. Decides to Take Up Residence Near New York.

Clarence H. White, leader in the new photography, who has an international reputation, expects to leave Newark next fall and locate permanently in the East. Mr. White was planned to take up his residence in Wyoming, N. J., a half hour's ride from New York City.

For several years Mr. White has made numerous trips to New York and other eastern as well as western cities, and his business in the east has grown to such proportions that he deems it advisable to locate in the east so as to be nearer a large number of his patrons.

While Mr. and Mrs. White's many friends will regret to have them leave Newark in the fall, nevertheless, they will be glad to know that such success has rewarded Mr. White's work as to warrant him in leaving this city for a larger field of action.

NO TROLLEY WILL BE USED

IF PRESENT PLANS OF INTERURBAN SYNDICATE ARE ADOPTED.

The Cars Will Be Run by Gasoline and Greater Speed is Therefore Anticipated.

Traction circles were considerably surprised Wednesday to find that the Widener-Elkins-Dolan syndicate has joined the ranks of those who are looking for a car which will guarantee its own power and run at a high rate of speed. The syndicate in question has become the largest factor in traction business in Ohio and Indiana and is constantly expanding its scope. Most of the traction lines have been devoting their efforts to limiting the loss of electric power in transmission and have not thought much of getting away from electricity altogether. That part of the question has been left to the steam roads in their efforts to reduce the cost of operating trains on the branches and to handle suburban business.

But the statement is now made with authority that the Widener-Elkins-Dolan syndicate has started to test a gasoline car which is claimed to be an improvement over the Strang and all other cars now in use. It is said of this one that it will use crude oil or gasoline with equal facility, and that it will develop a speed of 50 to 60 miles an hour without difficulty.

The principal item in this connection is that the officers of the syndicate say that it will reduce the operating expenses, even of a traction line, by 50 per cent. A long series of tests are now being made of the car, and it is said that they have been highly successful. The syndicate is now planning to build a line in Kentucky on which this car will be used. It is said that if it is a success the car will be used on all of the other tractions owned by the syndicate and the trolley will have to go.

Competing tractions are facing a necessity to completely change their equipment and method of doing business if this plan succeeds, and consequently the question is fraught with a great deal of interest to electric line interests.

It is now thought the Indianapolis, Columbus & Eastern Traction Co., the new corporation of the Schoepf people, will not construct a new substation at Alum creek, near Columbus, but instead will run the gasoline car on the proposed new limited schedule from Indianapolis to Zanesville.

CARRY CASE TO SUPREME COURT

Neuro-Magnetic Doctor. Backed by College, Will Test the Ohio Law in Court.

Dr. Goodhart, the neuro-magnetic physician, who was recently arrested in Coshocton, for "practicing medicine" in violation of the law on the Ohio statute books, was in Newark this week where Dr. Taylor of the same school was to have his trial on a similar charge, says the Coshocton Age. Although all attorneys and witnesses were there and ready, the state asked a continuance and it was finally placed for May.

Dr. Goodhart and Dr. Taylor will fight their cases up through the state courts and the college of which they are graduates will then take the case into the federal courts in order to have it passed upon by the United States Supreme court and test the legality of the Ohio law, which says that if any one not a graduate from a medical school helps a fellow man in any way where a doctor could be called in, he is committing a felony, or something about that bad.

The Coshocton case promises to throw the search light on the statute and attorneys state that they are of the opinion that the law will be knocked off the statute books.

Dr. Homer Goodhart is a former Zanesville boy and is a son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Goodhart of that city.

GRANVILLE NEWS

Granville, O., April 19.—The annual spring meeting of the Denison trustees Tuesday and Wednesday, April 17 and 18, was attended by 25 out of the 36 members of the board, as follows: E. J. Barney, Torrence Huffman, E. M. Thresher, Judge B. F. McCann, Rev. W. E. Stevens, Dr. H. F. Colby, and F. P. Beaver, of Dayton; Dr. W. H. Dunning, G. M. Peters, Dr. G. W. Lusher and V. R. Shepard of Cincinnati; Drs. J. L. Cheney, E. A. Hanley and Rev. M. Brelsford of Cleveland; C. T. Lewis of Toledo; S. F. Van Voorhis and J. R. Davies of Newark; Dr. J. C. Baldwin, Rev. C. J. Rose, J. M. Swartz and Burton Case of Granville; Dr. G. E. Leonard of Norwalk; Rev. B. F. Patt of Sidney; J. M. Amos of Cambridge and Professor A. D. Cole of Columbus.

Full discussion of the affairs of the university was had, the progress of the various building enterprises was reviewed and the budget for the ensuing year was presented. Many of the matters discussed did not involve decisive action at this time, and few changes were provided for in the faculty appointments. The following action, however, will be of general interest: Prof. Arthur Judson was given the office and title of Dean of the Conservatory, and Mr. W. Blair Clark is to resume his relations with Denison next fall, as treasurer, superintendent of the light, heat and power plant, and curator of grounds and buildings.

ANOTHER WONDER OF SCIENCE.

Biology has Proved that Dandruff is Caused by a Germ.

Science is doing wonders these days in medicine as well as in mechanics. Since Adam lived, the human race has been troubled with dandruff, for which no hair preparation has heretofore proved a successful cure until Newbro's Herpicide was put on the market. It is a scientific preparation that kills the germ that makes dandruff or scurf by digging into the scalp to get at the root of the hair, where it saps the vitality, causing itching, scalp, falling hair, and finally baldness. Without dandruff hair must grow luxuriantly. It is the only destroyer of dandruff. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

The Man With the Muck Rake

President Roosevelt Tells in Ringing Words How He Can Work Good or Evil

Clean Living and Right Thinking Must Be Brought About Spiritually and Ethically—War on Forces of Evil Strongly Urged if Conducted With Sanity, Honesty and Self Restraint—Progressive Tax on Vast Fortunes Advocated to Prevent Their Inheritance or Transmission in Entirety

In an address at the recent laying of the cornerstone of the olive building of the house of representatives President Roosevelt said in part: The material problems that face us today are not such as in Washington's time, but the underlying facts of human nature are the same now as they were then. Under altered external form we war with the same tendencies toward evil that were evident in Washington's time and are helped by the same tendencies for good. It is about some of these that I wish to say a word today.

In Bunyan's "Pilgrim's Progress" you may recall the description of the man with the muck rake, the man who could look no way but downward, with the muck rake in his hand; who was offered a celestial crown for his muck rake, but who would neither look up nor regard the crown he was offered, but continued to rake to himself the filth of the floor.

A Potent Force For Evil.

In "Pilgrim's Progress" the man with the muck rake is set forth as the example of him whose vision is fixed on carnal instead of on spiritual things. Yet he also typifies the man who in this life consistently refuses to see aught that is lofty and fixes his eyes with solemn infatuation only on that which is vile and degrading. Now, it is very necessary that we should not flinch from seeing what is vile and degrading. There is filth on the floor, and it must be scraped up with the muck rake, and there are times and places where this service is the most needed of all the services that can be performed. But the man who never does anything else, who never thinks or speaks or writes save of his feats with the muck rake, speedily becomes not a help to society, not an incentive to good, but one of the most potent forces for evil.

There are in the body politic, economic and social, many and grave evils, and there is urgent necessity for the sternest war upon them. There should be relentless exposure of and attack upon every evil man, whether politician or business man; every evil practice, whether in politics, in business or in social life. I hail as a benefactor every writer or speaker, every man who on the platform or in book, magazine or newspaper with merciless severity makes such attack, provided always that he in his turn remembers that the attack is of use only if it is absolutely truthful. The liar is no whit better than the thief, and if his mendacity takes the form of slander he may be worse than most thieves. It puts a premium upon knavery untruthfully to attack an honest man or even with hysterical exaggeration to assail a bad man with untruth.

Indiscriminate Assault.

Now, it is easy to twist out of shape what I have just said, easy to affect to misunderstand it, and if it is shrouded over in repetition not difficult really to misunderstand it. Some persons are sincerely incapable of understanding that to denounce mud slinging does not mean the endorsement of white-washing, and both the interested individuals who need whitewashing and those others who practice mud slinging like to encourage such confusion of ideas. One of the chief counts against those who make indiscriminate assault upon men in business or men in public life is that they invite a reaction which is sure to tell powerfully in favor of the unscrupulous scoundrel who really ought to be attacked, who ought to be exposed, who ought, if possible, to be put in the penitentiary. If Aristotle is praised overmuch as just, people get tired of hearing it, and over-censure of the unjust finally and from similar reasons results in their favor.

Any excess is almost sure to invite a reaction, and unfortunately the reaction, instead of taking the form of punishment of those guilty of the excess, is very apt to take the form either of punishment of the unoffending or of giving immunity and even strength to offenders. The effort to make financial or political profit out of the destruction of character can only result in public calamity. Gross and reckless assaults on character, whether on the stump or in newspaper, magazine or book, create a morbid and vicious public sentiment and at the same time act as a profound deterrent to able men of normal sensitiveness and tend to prevent them from entering the public service at any price. As an instance in point I may mention that one serious difficulty encountered in getting the right type of men to dig the Panama canal is the certainty that they will be exposed both without and I am sorry to say, sometimes within congress to utterly reckless assaults on their character and capacity.

At the risk of repetition let me say again that my plea is not for immunity to but for the most unsparring exposure of the politician who betrays his trust, of the big business man who makes or spends his fortune in illegitimate or corrupt ways. There should be a resolute effort to hunt every such man out of the position he has disgraced. Expose the crime and hunt down the criminal, but remember that even in the case of crime, if it is attacked in sensational, lurid and untruthful fashion, the attack may do more damage to the public mind than the crime itself. It is because I feel that there should be no rest in the endless war against the forces of evil that I ask that the war be conducted with sanity as well as with resolution. The men with the muck rakes are often indispensable to the well being of society, but only if they know when to stop raking the muck and to look upward to the celestial crown above them, to the crown of worthy endeavor. There are beautiful things above and round about them, and if they gradually grow to feel that the whole world is nothing but muck their power of usefulness is gone. If the whole picture is painted black there remains no hue whereby to single out the rays of distinction from their fellows. Such painting finally induces a kind of moral color blindness, and people affected by it come to the conclusion that no man is really black and no man really white, but they are all gray. In other words, they neither believe in the truth of the attack nor in the honesty of the man who is attacked. They grow suspicious of the accusation as of the offense. It becomes well nigh hopeless to stir them either to wrath against wrongdoing or to enthusiasm for what is right, and such a mental attitude in the public gives hope to every knave and is the despair of honest men.

Forces For Truth Stronger Than Ever.

There is any amount of good in the world, and there never was a time when loftier and more disinterested work for the betterment of mankind was being done than now. The forces that tend for evil are great and terrible, but the forces of truth and love and courage and honesty and generosity and sympathy are also stronger than ever before. It is a foolish and timid, no less than a wicked thing, to think the fact that the forces of evil are strong, but it is even worse to fail to take into account the strength of the forces that tell for good.

In his ecclesiastical polity that fine old Elizabethan divine, Bishop Hooker, wrote: "He that goeth about to persuade a multitude that they are not so well governed as they ought to be shall never want attentive and favorable hearers. Because they know the manifold defects whereunto every kind of regimen is subject, but the secret lets and difficulties, which in public proceedings are innumerable and inevitable, they have not ordinarily the judgment to consider."

This truth should be kept constantly in mind by every free people desiring to preserve the sanity and poise indispensable to the permanent success of self government. Yet, on the other hand, it is vital not to permit this spirit of sanity and self command to degenerate into mere mental stagnation. Had though a state of hysterical excitement is, and evil though the results are which come from the violent oscillations such excitement invariably produces, yet a sudden apoplexy in even is even worse. At this moment we are passing through a period of great unrest—social, political and industrial unrest. It is of the utmost importance for our future that this should prove to be not the unrest of mere rebelliousness against life, of mere dissatisfaction with the inevitable inequality of conditions, but the unrest of a resolute and eager ambition to secure the betterment of the individual and the nation. So far as this movement of agitation throughout the country takes the form of a fierce discontent with evil, of a determination to punish the authors of evil, whether in industry or politics, the feeling is to be heartily welcomed as a sign of healthy life.

If, on the other hand, it turns into a mere crusade of appetite against appetite, of a contest between the brutal greed of the "have-nots" and the brutal greed of the "haves," then it has no significance for good, but only for evil. If it seeks to establish a line of cleavage, not along the line which divides good men from bad, but along that other line, running at right angles thereto, which divides those who are well off from those who are less well off, then it will be fraught with immeasurable harm to the body politic.

We can no more and no less afford to condone evil in the man of capital than evil in the man of no capital. The wealthy man who exalts because there is a failure of justice in the effort to bring some trust magnate to account for his misdeeds is as bad as and no worse than the so-called labor leader who clamorously strives to excite a foul class feeling on behalf of some other labor leader who is implicated in murder. One attitude is as bad as the other and no worse.

It is a prime necessity that if the present unrest is to result in permanent good the emotion shall be translated into action and the action shall be marked by honesty, sanity and self-restraint. There is mighty little good in a mere spasmodic reform. The reform that counts is that which comes through steady, continuous growth. Violent emotionalism leads to exhaustion.

Taxation of Vast Fortunes.

It is important to this people to grapple with the problems connected with the amassing of enormous fortunes and the use of those fortunes, both corporate and individual, in business. We should discriminate in the sharpest way between fortunes well won and fortunes ill won; between those gained as an incident to performing great services to the community as a whole and those gained in evil fashion by keeping just within the limits of mere law honesty. Of course no amount of charity in spending such fortunes in any way compensates for misconduct in making them. As a matter of personal conviction and without pretending to discuss the details or formulate the system I feel that we shall ultimately have to consider the adoption of some scheme as that of a progressive tax on all fortunes beyond a certain amount, either given in life or devised or bequeathed upon death to any individual—a tax so framed as to put it out of the power of the owner of one of these enormous fortunes to hand on more than a certain amount to any one individual, the tax of course to be imposed by the national and not the state government. Such taxation should of course be aimed merely at the inheritance or transmission in their entirety of those fortunes swollen beyond all healthy limits.

Again, the national government must in some form exercise supervision over corporations engaged in interstate business, and all large corporations are engaged in interstate business—whether by license or otherwise, so as to permit us to deal with the far-reaching evils of overcapitalization. This year we are making a beginning in the direction of serious effort to set the some of these economic problems by the railway rate legislation. Such legislation, if so framed, as I am sure it will be, as to secure definite and tangible results, will amount to something of itself, and it will amount to a great deal more in so far as it is taken as a first step in the direction of a policy of superintendence and control over corporate wealth engaged in interstate commerce, this superintendence and control not to be exercised in a spirit of malevolence toward the man who have created the wealth, but with the firm purpose both to do justice to them and to see that they in their turn do justice to the public.

The first requisite in the public servants who are to deal in this shape with corporations, whether as legislators or as executives, is honesty. This honesty can be no respecter of persons. There can be no such thing as unilateral honesty. The danger is not really from corrupt corporations. It springs from the corruption itself, whether exercised for or against corporations.

But in addition to honesty we need sanity. No honesty will make a public man useful if that man is timid or foolish, if he is a hot-headed zealot or an impracticable visionary. As we strive for reform we find that it is not at all merely the case of a long uphill pull. On the contrary, there is almost as much of breeding work as of solar work. To depend only on traces means that there will soon be a runaway and an upset. The men of wealth who today are trying to prevent the regulation and control of their business in the interest of the public by the proper government authorities will not succeed, in my judgment, in checking the progress of the movement. But if they did succeed they would find that they had sown the wind and would surely reap the whirlwind, for they would ultimately provoke the violent excesses which accompany a reform coming by convulsion instead of by steady and natural growth.

Dangerous Opponents of Real Reform.

On the other hand, the wild preachers of unrest and discontent, the wild agitators against the entire existing order, the men who act crookedly, whether because of sinister design or from mere puzzle-headedness, the men who preach destruction without proposing any substitute for what they intend to destroy or who propose a substitute which would be far worse than the existing evils—all these men are the most dangerous opponents of real reform. If they get their way they will lead the people into a deeper pit than any into which they could fall under the present system. If they fail to get their way they will still do incalculable harm by provoking the kind of reaction which in its revolt against the senseless evil of their teaching would enthrone more securely than ever the very evils which their misguided followers believe they are attacking.

More important than might else is the development of the broadest sympathy of man for man. The welfare of the wageworker, the welfare of the tiller of the soil, upon these depend the welfare of the entire country. Their good is not to be sought in political down others. But their good must be the prime object of all our statesmanship.

Materially we must strive to secure a broader economic opportunity for all men, so that each shall have a better chance to show the stuff of which he is made. Spiritually and ethically we must strive to bring about clean living and right thinking. We appreciate that the things of the body are important. But we appreciate also that the things of the soul are immeasurably more important. The foundation stone of national life is and ever must be the high individual character of the average citizen.

CITY OF GOD A REALITY

Opinion of New York Preacher Regarding Heaven.

MAY SOON BE LOCATED BY SCIENCE

Rev. William C. Brown Believes That Astronomers Will Show to the Earth's Inhabitants Jehovah's Throne, Around Which All Other Planets Revolve—Wonderful Estimate of City's Size.

In his sermon to a large congregation at the First Baptist Church of Macon, Mo., the other morning the Rev. William C. Brown of New York, an evangelist, took the position that "The City of God," or the New Jerusalem, was as material and as real a city as London, New York or Kansas City and expressed himself as being confident that it would yet be located by astronomers and men of science and could be seen by the inhabitants of earth before death, says a Macon dispatch to the Kansas City Times.

The text was, "Wherefore God is not ashamed to be called their God, for he hath prepared for them a city."—Heb. xii, 22. Mr. Brown said in part:

"We know that our globe was at one time a part of the sun. The inclination of the axis and the constituent parts as shown by spectrum analysis make this almost certain. Thrown off in a gaseous form, it gradually cooled down as the ages rolled until it became this solid earth upon which man now lives. "It is impossible to conceive the spirit it taking up the various relations of life in the world without a body and a sphere of activity for that body. The logic that requires a body and a world here demands a body and a world beyond the grave."

"It was a supreme moment in the history of the race when Galileo placed his eye to the telescope, with its newly discovered powers. Up to that time the universe had been earth centered. The sun, the moon and the stars all revolved around it. But Galileo found that instead of our earth being the center of the great unmeasured universe it was one of the smallest bodies of the solar system and that it, together with others much larger, revolved around the sun, which, with other systems like our own, was revolving around another and a larger and a more central sun."

"This led to the sublime question, which was presented at a meeting of famous astronomers. 'What is the center of it all? An impressive silence fell upon the assembly of students. Then the question was replied to in this language by a man who stands at the very head of astronomical thought and discovery: 'I know not what others may think, but it seems to me it must be the throne of the great Jehovah.'"

"If you tell me where this great sun is about which all other suns and stars and worlds revolve, I will tell you where God's city is, for the throne is in the midst of the city, and the hour may be near at hand when astronomy will be able to exactly locate, and amid the brilliant constellations yonder, the very spot, the center of the universe of God! There are those who are studying to that end right now, and they feel the wondrous enthusiasm which is born of the thought that they are approaching nearer and nearer the hour and the place."

"The city of God is a place so vast that it bewilders all attempts at computation. One great mathematician devoted a full two years to the development of the measurements. They were given John in the Revelation. His deduction was that if the race was to continue on earth 5,000 years longer and to increase at the normal rate there would be space for a five room house, each room fifteen feet square and fifteen feet high, for every member of the race and that this would only take up one-third of the area of that great city! Another third would remain for boulevards and beauty spots. Another third would be for the palace and the throne of the King of kings."

"But there will be some things lacking in this great city of God. The city, however, will be the gainers for it. There will be no cemeteries, with their beautiful flowers and foliage. There will be no physicians, no undertakers, no drug stores. No sinner's tears will glide down the gutter streets of the new Jerusalem, for there will be no death and no grief."

PUCKERLESS PERSIMMONS.

New Japan-American Product Hints Old Style Face Twisters.

Persimmons without a pucker are now being grown by the department of agriculture, says a Washington special dispatch to the Philadelphia Press. Owing to the chemical composition of the old fashioned persimmon, which caused the lips to pucker after eating the fruit, the sales have been anything but gratifying to the farmers. In order to remedy this defect the department of agriculture imported some Japanese persimmons and crossed them with the American product. A finer specimen has been produced, and in the near future the department will begin the distribution of persimmons which will produce fruit guaranteed not to pucker the lips.

Society Starts in Oklahoma.

It is reported that a number of Oklahoma City young women have perfected an organization for the purpose of giving a citizens' day in the spring. The Oklahoma Times-Journal, the organization meets every Saturday night, and the members are getting along nicely with the acrobatic stunts.

NEW WEATHER SCHEME

Experts Expect to Give Out Forecasts a Month Ahead.

GREAT ADVANCES IN METEOROLOGY

Observers of the Weather Claim That the Time May Come When Conditions For a Year in Advance Can Be Given—Extensive Work Planned in Atmospheric Research.

Professor Willis L. Moore's prediction, made a few nights ago in New York, that it will soon be possible to forecast weather a month ahead, is fully concurred in by weather scientists at Washington, says the New York Globe. They believe the next few years will witness most remarkable advances in all lines of meteorology.

In fact, the weather observers hold it not impossible that even greater accomplishments may be had than those predicted by Professor Moore and say the time may come when it will be possible to interpret the seasonal weather from year to year in advance. Now forecasts are made for from thirty-six to forty-eight hours. The government has been thirty years in developing weather observations to forecast meteorological conditions for two days and nights ahead. In this work the United States has reached a higher perfection than any other country.

Present forecasts are based on observation of surface conditions over the entire country. Assistant Chief Williams of the weather bureau explained. Professor Moore and his lieutenants are now branching out into a new field. This is the exploration of the upper air or the atmosphere enveloping the earth up to a height of what is known as the ten mile level.

By study of upper air conditions, use of the wireless telegraph for transmitting facts as to both surface and upper air conditions at sea and by a system of co-operation with other countries it is believed weather science can be developed to a degree that seems almost beyond belief. Already the government has taken preliminary steps to study the upper air. Three years ago a special research institution was begun at Mount Weather, Virginia, in a high altitude well suited for meteorological observations.

Most of the buildings are now up and apparatus ready, and this summer extensive work is planned in atmospheric research. By means of balloons and kites floated to great altitudes and delicate recording apparatus the temperature, moisture, pressure, direction and velocity of the air at dizzy heights will be ascertained.

Magnetic observations will be taken also. The absorption of the sun's heat by the atmosphere will be measured, and, more remarkable still, analysis of the sunbeam will be made. In fact, there will be the most minute study of everything pertaining to conditions miles above the earth's level. It is expected important results will follow and that it will not be long before such upper air observations can be extended over the country.

When this study is perfected at various points the weather men say there is no telling how far in advance it will be possible to read the weather. The plain citizen can easily tell when going out on a month's trip whether to take his umbrella and rain coat. The effect on agricultural industry and many other industries will obviously be great.

Other nations have begun upper air studies, with interesting results. The Germans especially have gone far in this work, but mainly for scientific purposes and with little idea of applying their findings to practical weather forecasting as yet. The possibilities of wireless telegraphy are enormous in this connection. Already the government gets reports from various steamers and from lightships as to weather conditions.

The weather bureau is watching closely Professor Alexander Graham Bell's experience with tetrahedral kites. The other day at Fort Meyer, near Washington, Professor Bell, with a kite at 2,000 feet, got a message from 350 miles. An attaché of the weather bureau is assisting him. As the distance lengthens for transmission of wireless messages the field for weather reports from sea greatly increases.

Brains on Tap For Beauty.

If you live in Boston and "have the price" advice as to just what to buy when you go shopping may be yours, say a correspondent of the New York Press. A young woman in that town who recently was thrown on her own resources decided that her unflattering eye for color harmonies and taste in dress was a marvellous commodity and opened an office where for a small sum she tells women what they ought to wear. Should her enterprise prove a success, doubtless many women in the same circumstances will take the shippers in tow.

Spring.

Spring, to the thoughtful, brings the thought of the old days of childhood. And the old days of childhood are the best of all. They are the days when we were young and free and full of life. They are the days when we were not yet burdened by the cares of the world. They are the days when we were not yet burdened by the responsibilities of life. PITIHABLE CASE OF DESERTION

HUSBAND RUNS AWAY AND HIS WIFE LEAVES HOME AND CHILDREN.

Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Garrity of Mt. Vernon, Can Not Be Located. Police Hunting.

Mt. Vernon, April 19.—A pitiable case of desertion was brought to light yesterday when Mrs. F. F. Larabee reported that Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Garrity had departed and abandoned their two children, Agnes, aged 9, and Louise, aged 3. The little girls are now at the home of Mrs. Larabee.

It appears that Garrity left the city three weeks ago and his wife alleged at the time that he ran away and abandoned both herself and the children. A week ago Mrs. Garrity appeared at the home of Mrs. Larabee with the girls and asked her to keep them for several days, as she was going to Columbus to seek employment.

It now appears that Mrs. Garrity has failed to return and it is alleged that she has abandoned the children. Mrs. Garrity promised to write to the children, but no letters have been received up to the present time. A few days ago little Agnes wrote her mother, with a return envelope, to an address in Columbus, but the letter has not been returned.

Mrs. Larabee is very much worried over the matter and does not know what to do with the children.

JACKSONTOWN.

The many friends of Mrs. James Richardson will be sorry to learn that she sustained a stroke of paralysis at her home south of town last week.

Mr. and Mrs. George Handley entertained on Sunday the following guests: Joseph Taylor and family, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Meredith, Mr. and Mrs. Colonel Meredith and daughter Frances, Mr. Milton Handley, John Handley, Miss Ada Nell of near Elmville, and Miss Eva Damer of Granville.

Mrs. O. N. Wolcott of Columbus, spent Easter with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Beard.

Mr. Stanley Stoller and friend Miss Bilman of Newark, were guests on Sunday of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Stoller.

Mrs. James Long and Mrs. A. B. Gray visited Wednesday with Mr. and Mrs. J. E. House.

On Saturday afternoon dogs made a raid on a flock of sheep belonging to Mr. Andrew Beard. Mr. Beard with several men went to the field and caught the dogs, one of which he ordered to Mr. Isaac Bounds and the other to Mr. Ed Frankenberg. The dog belonging to Mr. Bounds was killed, but Mr. Frankenberg would not allow his dog to be killed. A few sheep were crippled but none were killed.

Rev. Mr. Shoemaker of Ashley, O., visited Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Jurey.

Mrs. Harvey Orr, and son Emmett, and Mr. Perry Jones and family spent Easter Sunday with William Fink and family of near Education Hill.

Mrs. Becca Jurey is spending several days with her nephew, W. V. Davis and family.

Purged of Contempt.

Springfield, Ill., April 19.—Colonel James Hamilton Lewis, corporation counsel of Chicago, who was adjudged in contempt of court by Judge Humphrey in the United States district court for filing a suit against the Alton waterworks in violation of the injunction issued by Judge Humphrey last May, restraining persons from attacking the validity of the loan of the Farmers' Loan and Trust company to the Alton waterworks, purged himself of contempt by withdrawing the suit in the Madison county court.

A Woman in the Case!

A woman was at the bottom of it. She said to her husband, "why don't you go to The Great Western and see what kind of clothes they have, anyway, instead of paying such high prices to have them made?"

SAN FRANCISCO

Today Presents a Scene of Desolation, Death and Disaster

EIGHT SQUARE MILES RAZED

HUNDRED THOUSAND PEOPLE ARE RENDERED HOMELESS

Property Damage Estimated Thursday
Morning at Hundred and Twenty Million Dollars.

San Francisco, April 19.—The situation early this morning may be summed up in the following bulletin:

Dead, 500 to 1000.

Injured 2000.

Number of buildings wrecked or burned, 30,000.

Homeless people, 100,000.

Estimated property damage, to date

$120,000,000.

San Francisco, April 19.—Thirty-thousand houses were either partially or wholly destroyed by the earthquake and the subsequent fire which swept San Francisco from one end to the other. Hundreds of buildings are burning without any effort being made to check the flames, and it is estimated that there are 150,000 homeless people.

The number of the dead can not be readily estimated. One hundred bodies have already been recovered. Many perished miserably in the broken-down wooden houses along the water front, in the Mission and along Market street. Falling walls pinned many victims fast and they were compelled to suffer untold agonies while fiery flames crept toward them. Some believe that the number of deaths will reach the appalling figures of 5,000, but from the number of bodies thus far recovered the figure may be excessive.

The entire city presents a scene of indescribable confusion. The fire zone is so large that it takes two and one-half hours to go around it. Every automobile, vehicle and wagon in the city has been pressed into service as ambulances. Mayor Schmitz appointed 3,000 more special policemen. It is estimated that, aside from the city fire department, there were 25,000 fire-fighters. Marvellous deeds of heroism have been reported on all sides. There were many thrilling rescues. The deeds of valor performed by firemen and police would fill a volume.

FIRE FOLLOWS QUAKE.

Lack of Water Badly Handicapped the Brave Firemen.

It was 5:15 o'clock Wednesday morning when a terrific earthquake shook the whole city and surrounding country. One shock apparently lasted two minutes, and there was almost immediate collapse of flimsy structures all over the city. The water supply was cut off, and when fires broke out in various sections there was nothing to do but let the buildings burn. Telephone and telephone communication was shut off for a time. Electric power was stopped and streetcars did not run. Railroads and ferryboats also ceased operations. The various fires raged all day and the fire department was powerless to do anything except to dynamite the buildings threatened. All day long explosions shook the city and added to the terror of the inhabitants. Following the first earthquake shock there was another within five minutes, but not nearly so severe. Three hours later there was another slight quake.

The Valencia hotel, a four-story wooden building, sank into the basement, a pile of splintered timbers, under which were pinned many dead and dying occupants of the house. The basement was full of water and some of the helpless victims were drowned. Scarcely had the earth ceased to shake when fires broke out simultaneously in many places. The fire department promptly responded to the first calls for aid, but it was found that the water mains had been rendered useless by the underground movement. Fanned by a light breeze, the flames quickly spread, and soon many blocks were doomed. Then dynamite was resorted to and the sound of frequent explosions added to the terror of the people. The south side of Market street from Ninth street to the bay was soon ablaze, the fire covering a belt two blocks wide. On this, the main thoroughfare of the city, are located many of the finest edifices in the city, including the Grant, Parrott, Flood, "Call," "Examiner" and Alonad-nock buildings, the Palace and Grand hotels and numerous wholesale houses.

At the same time the commercial establishments and banks north of Market street were burning. The burning district in this section extended from Sansome street to the water front, and from Market street to Broadway. Fire also broke out in the Mission, and the entire city seemed to be in flames.

STATELY BUILDINGS

Are Quickly Reduced by the All-
Devouring Flames.

The dreadful earthquake shock came without warning precisely at 5:13 o'clock Wednesday morning. Its motion apparently being from east to west. At first the upheaval of the earth was gradual, but in a few seconds it increased in intensity. Chimneys began to fall and buildings to crack, tottering on their foundations. People became panicky and rushed into the streets, the most of them in their night attire. They were met by showers of falling buildings, bricks, cornices and walls. Many were instantly crushed to death, while others were dreadfully mangled. Those who remained indoors generally escaped with their lives, though scores were hit by detached plaster, pictures and articles thrown to the floor. It is said there was much loss by nearly every family in the city.

The sheds over the Southern Pacific long wharf on San Francisco bay have completely collapsed. Many a bunker fell into the bay, carrying with them thousands of tons of coal. The long wharf was one of the most important shipping points about the bay, and freight traffic will be interrupted considerably. As a result of the breaking of the mains of the Spring Valley Water company the town of San Mateo was flooded. It was owing to the broken mains that the fire gained such headway in San Francisco. The town

SCENES AMONG ST. PIERRE'S RUINS, WHOSE DESOLATION IS COVERING

Showing how venture has over spread the ruins of the Rue Victor Hugo.

Port de France, Martinique, April 19.—When on a May morning four years ago an expedition which had been hurried to the scene of the St. Pierre disaster brought the ruins in to view, there was so much of utter desolation, such drifts of scoria and volcanic ash over all of the seated and blasted region that the generally expressed opinion was that never a green thing could ever grow there again.

The writer, who was a member of that first expedition, has been afforded an opportunity of visiting the ruins again. And such marvels has this tropical nature wrought throughout these last four years! Greenness everywhere save on the slopes of Pelee itself and in the deep swales and elevations of that lava river whose turbulent brown billows look as though they had been suddenly stilled when of San Rafael, despite its own troubles, dispatched fire-fighting apparatus to San Francisco.

The Palace hotel is destroyed. The Postal and the Western Union buildings and the magnificent new Union Trust company building, 11 stories high, have been dynamited. The post-office is a fine grey stone structure and has been completed less than two years. It covers half a block on Mission street, between Sixth and Seventh streets. The ground on which the building stands was of a swampy character, and some difficulty was experienced in obtaining a solid foundation. The City hall, which was badly wrecked, is a mile and a half from the water front. It was an imposing structure with a dome 150 feet high. The building covers about three acres of ground and cost more than $7,000,000.

Banks and commercial houses, supposed to be fireproof, though not of modern build, burned quickly, and the roar of the flames could be heard even on the hills which were out of the danger zone. Here many thousands of people congregated and witnessed the awful scene. Great streams of flame rose high in the heavens, or rushed down some narrow street, joining midway between the sidewalks and making a horizontal chimney of the former passageways. The dense smoke that arose from the entire business district spread out like an immense funnel and could have been seen for miles out at sea. Occasionally some drug house or place stored with chemicals was reached, and most impressive effects were produced by the colored flames and smoke which rolled out against the darker background.

The Parrott building, in which were located the chambers of the state supreme court, the lower floors being devoted to an immense department store, was ruined, though its massive walls were not all destroyed. A little farther down Market street the Academy of Sciences and the Jennie Flood building and the History building kindled and burned like so much tinder. Sparks carried across the wide street, ignited the Phelan building, and the army headquarters of the department of California, General Funston commanding, was burned.

Still nearer the bay, the waters of which did the firemen good service along the docks, the fire took the Rialto building, a handsome skyscraper, and converted scores of solid business blocks into smoldering piles of brick.

RUINED DISTRICT.

The burned district extends from the water front south of Market street to Market street, and west to Eleventh street, north of Market. The fire extends out Hayes and McAllister streets nearly to Fillmore, and from the water front along Market to Montgomery, and north from the water to Montgomery street. Manufactures, hotels, wholesale houses and residences, comprising the principal part of the business section, have been destroyed. The City hall, a structure costing $7,000,000, was first wrecked by the earthquake and then destroyed by fire. The Palace hotel, value estimated at $1,000,000, also burned. The beautiful Claus Spreckels building at Third and Market streets was gutted. The Rialto building and dozens of other costly structures were also destroyed. The Hall of Justice is ruined. The Examiner and the Call buildings are gone and the Crocker building across the street from the Palace hotel is on fire. The freaks of the earthquake were many. Wide fissures were made in the streets, street lights were twisted out of line, sewers and water pipes were burst, and it is feared that there will be an epidemic of disease. Provisions are being sold at fancy prices, and even water is being vendied by the glass. It is impossible to give a list of the dead or wounded, or even a list of the principal buildings.

For three miles along the water front buildings have been swept clean, and the blackened beams and great skeletons of factories and offices stand all about against a background of flames that is now spreading over the entire city. The whole commercial and office section of the city on the north side of Market street from the Ferry building to Fifth street has been consumed in the hell of flame, already been destroyed and others are in imminent danger. Over all the scene of desolation hangs a dense pall of smoke.

Communication with outside towns is almost entirely cut off, but the report comes from Palo Alto that all but one of the buildings of the Leland Stanford Jr university have been wrecked, and that the splendid Memorial church, one of the finest structures of the West, is in the midst of a mass of ruins. One student is known to have lost his life. In Oakland five persons were killed. San Jose and Sacramento, Berkeley, Alameda and other places heard from suffered severely, but report no loss of life.

The tall steel frame structures stood the strain better than brick buildings, few of them being badly damaged. The big 11-story Monadnock office building, in course of construction, adjoining the Palace hotel, was an exception, however, its rear wall collapsing and many cracks being made across its front. Some of the docks and freight sheds along the water front slid into the bay. Deep fissures opened in the filled-in ground near the shore, and the Union Ferry depot was injured. Its tower still stands, but will have to be torn down.

A portion of the new city hall, which cost more than $7,000,000, collapsed, the roof sliding into the courtyard and the smaller towers tumbling down, with the great dome being moved, but not falling. The new postoffice, one of the finest in the United States, was badly shattered.

CHINATOWN WRECKED.

Hundreds of Celestials Buried Beneath the Debris.

The earthquake has worked astonishing havoc in San Francisco's famous Chinatown. The Chinese restaurants and Joss houses are in ruins, and rookery after rookery has collapsed, covering alive hundreds of the Celestials. Panic reigns among the countless thousands of the Chinese, and they fill the streets, dragging whatever they could save from the wreck. The Japanese quarter has been burned out.

Practically the whole district south of Market street from the water front to the Mission has been swept clean by the flames.

The greatest destruction occurred in that part of the city which was reclaimed from San Francisco bay. Much of the devastated district was at one time low, marshy ground, entirely covered by water at high tide. As the city grew it became necessary to fill in many acres of this low ground in order to reach deep water. The Merchants' Exchange building, a 14-story steel structure, was situated on the edge of this reclaimed ground. It had just been completed and the legislative offices of the Southern Pacific company occupied the greater part of the building.

ORDERED SHOT.

Four Men Charged With Looting Are Promptly Executed.

General Funston realized that stern measures were necessary, and gave orders that looters were to be shot at sight. Four men were summarily executed before 3 o'clock in the afternoon. At a meeting of 50 citizens called by the mayor, it was announced that 1,400 tons would be pitched in Golden Gate park, and arrangements have been made to feed the destitute in the public squares. A finance committee with James D. Phelan at the head was appointed, and Mayor Schmitz was instructed to issue drafts for all funds needed on this committee.

The latest reports at police headquarters show that the entire district bounded by Vallejo, Howard, East and Sansome streets, embracing practically the entire whole sale portion of the city, has been swept clean by the fire. Also the district bounded by Second, (Continued on Page 11, 1d Col.)

A MONSTER MEETING HELD

PETITION SAYS APOSTLE IS NOT FIT

Four Thousand Say They Will Not Listen to Dowle If He Returns to Zion.

Chicago, April 19.—As soon as word was received in Zion City that Voliva and his associates had been temporarily restrained from exercising control of that place, the business council appointed by Voliva issued a call for a mass meeting in Shiloh tabernacle. Among those who attended the meeting were 2,000 persons who have their money invested in the industries at Zion City, and all of the people signed a petition, which was sent to Judge Wright of the circuit court, asking him to restore Deacon Alexander Granger to control of all the finances of the place. The petition to Judge Wright declares that Dr. Dowle is no longer fit physically or mentally to act as trustee of the property owned by the Christian Catholic church.

The meeting was addressed by Voliva, who, after pronouncing the benediction, inquired of his hearers what they would do if John Alexander Dowle should return to Zion City and attempt to address them in Shiloh tabernacle. Four thousand persons heard Voliva's question and without a single exception all agreed to remain away from any meeting in which Dowle might in any way have a connection.

This committee is now being formed and will be ready to be announced immediately upon the action of the city council.

KEEPING FOR FARMERS

SUBJECT OF ARTICLE WRITTEN BY JACOB DICKMAN OF DEPIANCE, O.

One of the Largest Honey Producers in the State—Extracts from His Article.

"Bee-keeping for the Average Farmer." This is the title of the 19th of the valuable articles that are being published weekly, by The Ohio Farmer, Cleveland. It is written by Mr. Jacob Dickman, Defiance county, O., who is one of the largest honey producers in the state, measuring his season's crop by the ton, rather than by the hundred weight or pound. The article appears in the issue of April 21. Following are some extracts from it:

"The hive must be such that any frame may be removed from it, and placed in any other hive in the apiary. For an apiary of 25 hives, the equipment, for extracting honey, should consist of an extractor, uncapping can, honey knife, smokers, veils, a swarm catcher, and a honey-house. The beginner, or even the experienced bee keeper, will succeed far better if he works for extracted honey rather than comb honey.

"The apiary should be located where it will be seen many times a day, without extra effort. It should be fenced so as to keep children out of danger. It should be upon well-drained ground, where water will not stand after rain. All weeds and grass should be kept well mown, so as to permit the bees to have a free flight to and from the hive entrances. Purchase your first colony as near home as possible, but if necessary they may be transported 25 or 30 miles without serious harm; though, on a warm night and a long haul the combs will come times melt down and the colony be an entire loss. Make your purchases late in April or early in May.

"An amateur who has never seen a hive of bees examined, nor seen the frames of combs removed and examined, does not understand the difference between larvae and brood, has not seen the young bees hatching out by the dozens, perhaps has never seen a queen—I believe such a one could learn more by spending an hour's time with some good apiarist when he was handling his bees than by reading all the articles that might be written on the subject. A few instructions may not be out of place. Wishing to examine a colony, first of all in importance put on your veil. Never mind if this or that man can handle bees without a veil, you want a veil over your face. 'Twill give you confidence, and keep the bees from your face and save you much pain. Now, with a lighted smoker in your hand, blow a very few puffs of smoke in at the entrance and remove the cover and honey board or cloth, if you use cloths. Smoke gently over the frames and pry the frames apart far enough to lift out one of the frames, and what do you see? Perhaps a part of the comb the size of your hand is capped over. That's brood. Around this you will see small worms. Those are larvae, and eggs in the outer cells. This frame can be set aside or leaned against the hive and all the frames can be removed and replaced at will, the bees kept subdued by an occasional puff of smoke. Thus any colony can be examined and if honey is needed it can be supplied, for each colony must have enough honey to last until the honey flow opens.

"One must be much more skillful to succeed with comb honey than with extracted, and much more time must be given to the bees just when farm work is pressing. The extractor will enable the apiarist to secure honey at times when none whatever would be stored in sections. As to exact data in our locality, we give the date of extracting and amount extracted each time from fifteen colonies the past season. June 17, 596 pounds; June 22, 495 pounds; July 7, 1,004 pounds; July 20, 483 pounds; a total of 2,670 pounds within one pound of an average of 172 pounds per colony. We keep an average hive upon scales and thus can not how rapidly honey is being made. Our scale hive gained one day 12 pounds, the next day 15 pounds, the next 18 pounds, the next 24 pounds, the next 5 pounds.

"Mr. Dickman then gives his method of marketing, and states his 'secret' of handling bees to make such phenomenal production. It is really no secret, but merely a systematic way of handling them. We have not the space to state it in full, but a copy of the Ohio Farmer containing the entire article will be sent free to any of our subscribers who request it. Address The Ohio Farmer, Cleveland, O., and ask for a copy of April 21.

The Oregon Meteorite

New York, April 19—Without missing a moment, the meteorite, weighing fifteen tons, purchased by Mrs. William E. Dodge at a cost said to be $20,000, and presented by her to the American Museum of Natural History, has ended its long journey from Portland, Oregon.

Many were the comments of spectators as the huge mass, on a truck, swung from 28th street into Broadway, and continued up to Columbus circle and into Central Park.

According to Henry A. Ward, a scientist, this specimen, which derives its name from the fact that it was found near Willamette, Ore., in 1892, is remarkable for the presence of broad channels, cutting into it, caused, supposedly, by the tremendous friction of the densely compressed air as the meteorite passed through the atmosphere.

Traces of cobalt and shrapnel are found in the mass, but it consists of more than ninety per cent iron and nearly eight per cent nickel. The length is 10 feet 1 1/2 inches; breadth across base, 7 feet; height from base to summit, 4 feet; circumference of base, 25 feet 4 inches. Its temporary resting place will be in the area near the large Cape York meteorite brought from Greenland by Commander Peary.

BUILDING VALUES SHOW INCREASE

The Estimates Are That $112,000 Will Be Spent in Improving the City.

The percentage of increase in the values of the building erected this year over those of last from the first of March to the 19th of April is well shown by the comparison of the approximate values given in the building permit register at the City building. Even considering that a large number of those erecting buildings have done so without the city's permission, the increase is highly perceptible.

The statistics show that last year within the permits mentioned above, there were 69 permits issued. Those represented an approximate value of $38,625,000, while this year within the same dates but 51 have been issued. This year's values estimated are in sum $112,210,000 of course, including the Newark Trust company's building. But even without this, the amount would be $52,210, which is very good. For the month of March alone, last year, the values given in permits amounted to $26,875, and to $31,750, in the month of April.

Since Monday, April 9, the following permits have been issued:

The Newark Trust Co., a ten story fireproof office building at 19 and 21 N. Third St., $300,000
Ralph W. Scribner, a barn in Moser's addition, 100
C. A. Luby, a two story dwelling in Wehrle addition, 1100
J. B. Evans, a frame dwelling in Thirteenth street, 2000

FORMER JOCKEY WHO MUST UNDERGO OPERATION

New York, April 19—Palld and low voiced, James Tod Sloan, once the favorite jockey of royalty and for many years master rider of the turf here and abroad, feebly answered questions put to him by Jacob Stiefel, attorney for Henry E. Whipple, a judgment creditor, in supplementary proceedings before Judge Clinch in art 2 of the Supreme court.

Following the announcement that the case would be adjourned ten days by reason of the jockey's ailments, Tod hastened with his attorney, Daniel O'Reilly, to the sanatorium of Dr. Peter J. Gibbons where he was operated on for throat tumors.

While the operation was not necessarily dangerous, it will keep Sloan in confinement for the next ten days or a fortnight. Dr. Gibbons says Sloan's affliction is similar to that for which he operated upon Lillian Russell a year or more ago. The amount of the judgment sought against Sloan is $1,288.79, and the plaintiff is understood to represent not only his own interest, but that of several other alleged creditors of the jockey.

RAILWAY AFFAIRS

Monster Freight Engines.
Monster freight engines, almost twice as large and three times as strong as the ordinary type, are being installed on the B. & O. Southwestern railroad. They are being built at Chillicothe, O., says the "Technical World." Thirty of these monsters will soon be in use over the entire system. In order that these extra heavy engines can pass successfully over the entire road it will be necessary to strengthen bridges and roadbeds in various places.

While the new engines resemble the old style of freight handlers in appearance, many improvements have been installed upon the new type. The immense boiler sits twice as high as in the ordinary engine in order to afford room for the extra large firebox and the extra mechanism not to be found upon the little freight handlers.

New Safety Device.
Railroad officials are interested in a safety device which has recently been patented by which a train dispatcher has control of trains on his division over every mile of track, says the Chicago Tribune. It consists of a series of semaphores placed at frequent intervals along the track which can be raised and lowered by the dispatcher without leaving his desk.

It is proposed to use in connection with this device telephones, so that the conductor of a stopped train can communicate at once with the train dispatcher and receive new orders. Moreover the agents at stations along the line have control of the semaphores on either side of them, so that if they see a train running by under wrong orders they can stop it at the next semaphore.

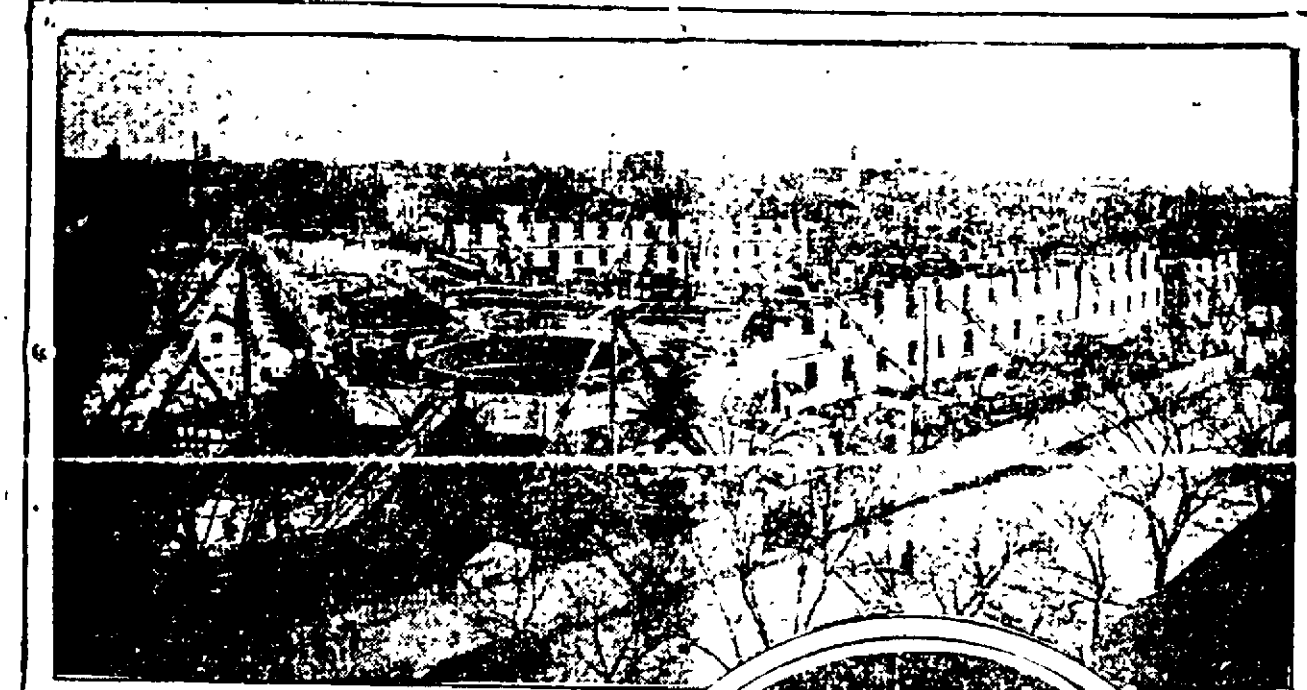

The mechanism of the new device is extremely simple, being operated by electricity obtained from half a dozen dry cells at each semaphore post. The dispatcher is notified by a red light on the switchboard in front of him that the semaphore has been raised, and when it is raised by a station agent along the line his attention is called to it by the ringing of a bell.

Prevents Accidents.

A new railway switch engine signal designed to prevent accidents through misplaced switches has been invented by Anthony J. Proszak and Frank H. Poole of Dunkirk, N. Y. The device consists of a machine which automatically places a torpedo on the rail a certain distance from the siding when the switch is thrown open, says the Cleveland Plain Dealer. If the engine hears the report of the torpedo, he knows that the switch ahead is open and can instantly stop the train and avert an accident. Great loss of life has been occasioned when switches have been left open by forgetful or malicious persons, and also when a train is too long for siding and obstructs the track.

PRESIDENT AND BUILDING WHERE HE MADE "MUCK RAKE" SPEECH.

The Congressional Office Building as it now looks

Market, Eighth and Folsom street, has been devastated. In the latter district are included most of the city's finest and most substantial buildings. The area covered by the flames up to the present time is about eight square miles, or several hundred city blocks. Very little, if any, water is available and the blowing up of buildings by dynamite is the only means of checking the progress of the flames. Most of the buildings untouched by the flames have been greatly damaged by the earthquake shocks. The pecuniary loss at this hour is conservatively estimated at $100,000,000.

ASKS FOR TENTS.

General Funston Wires Washington Regarding Disaster.

Washington, April 19.—The flat message from General Funston arrived in Washington at 11:40 o'clock last night. It was addressed to Secretary Taft, who had already retired. The message follows: "Secretary of War, Washington: We need thousands of tents and all the rations that can be sent. The business portion of the city destroyed and about 100,000 people homeless. Fire still raging. Troops all on duty assisting the police. Loss of life probably 1,000. Best part of residence district not yet burned."

Orders will go forward from the war department to the adjacent posts to carry out General Funston's recommendations.

Shocks Felt in Nevada.

Washington, April 19.—A dispatch says that the earthquake shocks are reported as far east as Hazen, Nev. The Southern Pacific has brought into San Francisco a ton of dynamite to use if necessary in destroying buildings to prevent the spread of the flames. No one is allowed to enter the city and boats and trains are crowded with refugees.

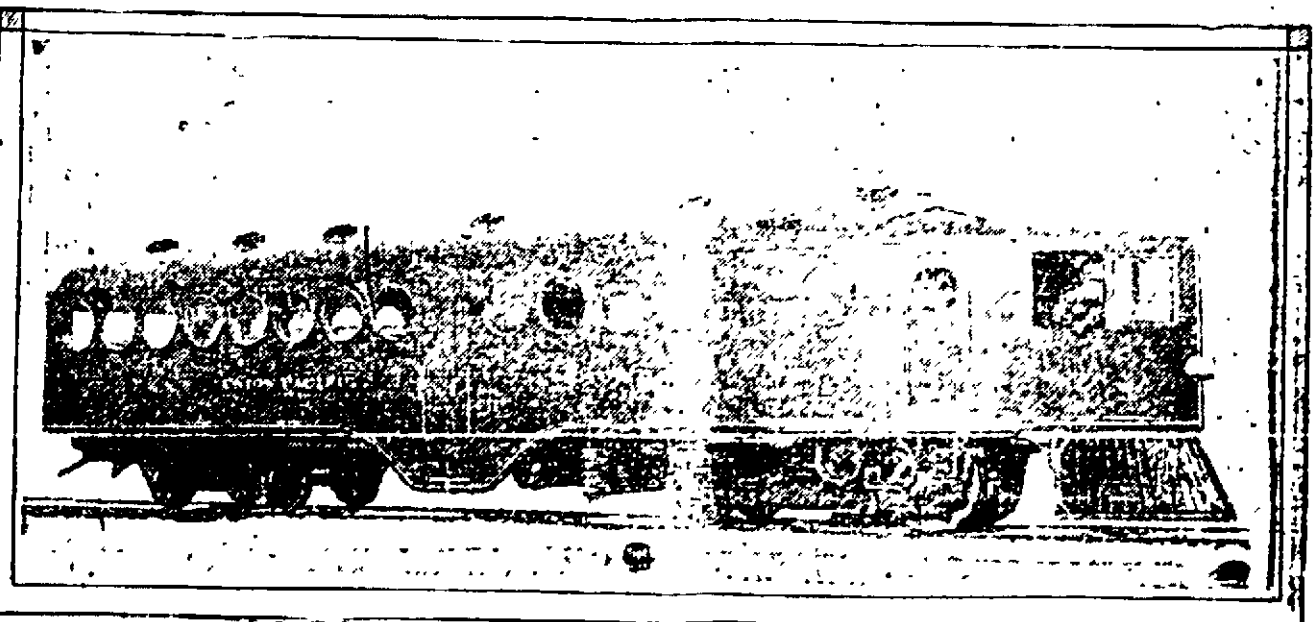

Resort Swept Into Sea.

San Francisco, April 19.—From the Cliff House comes word that the great pleasure resort and show place of the city, which stood upon a foundation of solid rock, has been swept into the sea. Not a thing stands to tell where the monster stone building once stood. It has been leveled to the foundation, and only the rock lining the seacoast remains intact.

Another Shock.

Los Angeles, April 19.—A telegraph operator named Baum, who arrived at Oakland, says that another severe earthquake shock occurred at San Francisco at 7:15 Wednesday evening. The damage, he says, from the several shocks and the ensuing fires is beyond calculation. The conflagration, he adds, is still raging.

RUIN WROUGHT OUTSIDE THE CITY

THRIVING CALIFORNIA TOWNS ARE WRECKED BY THE EARTHQUAKE.

San Jose, Santa Rosa, Oakland and Other Places Suffer Severely. Insane Patients Killed.

Oakland, Cal., April 19.—Late intelligence from the districts outside of San Francisco indicate widespread damage. San Jose, 50 miles south, lost many buildings, and from 15 to 20 people were killed. The annex of the Vendome hotel collapsed and broke out. Stanford university and Palo Alto suffered. At Stanford many of the handsome buildings were demolished and two people were killed. One of them was Junius R. Hanna of Bradford, Pa., and the other was Otto Guits, a fireman. Six other students are lying in the Palo Alto hospital with bruises, cuts and internal injuries.

At Salinas, Cal., two terrible earthquake shocks occurred, several million dollars' worth of property being wrecked.

One hundred and twenty bodies have been taken out of a few insane aslums, near Santa Clara, and there are probably 150 more corpses in the ruins. The magnificent structure was demolished. Eight dead Italians were taken out of the Italian hotel at San Jose. At that place the Presbyterian church, St. Patrick's cathedral and the High school were destroyed. The new Hall of Justice at San Jose, which was completed at a cost of $300,000, was demolished. All but two of the university buildings at Stanford are in ruins. At Loma Prieta, 18 miles from Santa Cruz, a mine house slipped down the side of a mountain, burying 10 men in the ruins.

Many Killed at San Jose.
Oakland, Cal., April 19.—At San Jose the Vendome hotel annex was badly wrecked, 19 or 20 killed. The Doherty block was completely burned, and one woman killed. Dr. Degrow was killed and his wife badly injured. Every business building was demolished. It is estimated that 50 persons were killed. Postoffice half wrecked. First Presbyterian church totally demolished, courthouses a wreck. Passengers arriving from other cities in California bring tales of death and disaster from nearly all. Santa Cruz, Monterey and Holsterville wrecked. Death list at Santa Cruz reported large. With one exception all buildings at Stanford university were demolished, but no lives lost. State insane asylum at Agnew's demolished, superintendent and wife being killed and several nurses injured. Many inmates were killed. Two hundred inmates escaped, running wild.

Insane Asylum Demolished.
Los Angeles, Cal., April 19.—News

comes to this city from Niles, a small town in the Santa Clara valley, about 15 miles from San Jose, stating that the earthquake demolished the state insane asylum at Agnew, near San Jose, burying many of the inmates in the ruins. It is said San Jose suffered severely.

San Francisco, April 19.—Supervisor Fred Horner of Oakland, who returned from San Jose, states that the Agnew asylum, near that city, is a total wreck; that many of the inmates were killed and that the remainder are running around loose, terrorizing the community. The superintendent of the institution and his wife were both killed.

Santa Rosa Destroyed.
Los Angeles, April 19.—Santa Rosa is a total wreck. Ten thousand persons are homeless, and loss of life will probably reach hundreds. The whole business portion of the city has tumbled into ruins. Main street is piled either side many feet deep with fallen buildings. Not one business building left intact. Four story courthouse is a pile of broken masonry, nothing left. Identification impossible. What was not destroyed by earthquake was swept by fire. Citizens fled to fields and hills to watch the destruction of the city. Water system was destroyed by the earthquake.

Los Angeles Not Affected.
Los Angeles, Cal., April 19.—From inquiries received in this city from points in the east it appears that the impression has gone out that the earthquake which caused such devastation in San Francisco also affected Los Angeles and other California points. This is an entirely erroneous impression. There has been no earthquake in southern California and the shocks that caused the damage in San Francisco were not felt farther south than Santa Barbara.

Stanford University Ruined.
Oakland, Cal., April 19.—Latest reports from the Leland Stanford university indicate that the magnificent stone buildings of that institution have suffered severe damage. Many of the buildings were ruined by cracks that split them from cornice to foundation. The loss will reach tens of thousands. The University of California at Berkeley, by some remarkable freak, escaped from serious injury. Only a few structures collapsed in Berkeley.

Damage in Oakland.
Oakland, Cal., April 19.—The earthquake which wrought such havoc in San Francisco did great damage in this city. Many chimneys in private houses, mercantile establishments and manufacturing institutions were knocked down. The loss will aggregate several hundred thousand dollars. Five lives were lost.

Busy Cleaning Streets.

The Board of Public Service are busy cleaning up streets and alleys about the city. They have a crew of men repairing rough places in the brick street paving, and cross walks, all of which they find in very bad condition about the city, notwithstanding several thousand dollars was spent last year to no advantage, apparently.

The board is having the advertisements torn down from the city street poles, and the mayor calls attention to the ordinance prohibiting posting of bills on poles. Violation of this ordinance will be prosecuted hereafter.

The Board of Public Service is also having all street lamps cleaned, which has not been done since they were put up. After spending several hundred dollars since January 1, the electric light plant is now in good running order. The Board of Public Service is having the park fountain repaired and put in good condition and painted. The members had the fountains put in working order, also the fountain on the northeast corner of the park. The Board proposed to live strictly up to civic improvement as near as possible, and Mr. Taylor says they will do all in their power to help beautify the city and keep it clean.

GRANVILLE NEWS

Granville, O., April 19—The new gymnasium for Shepardson college in Granville, was formally dedicated on Tuesday evening, April 17, though it had been in use for some months. Dr. N. E. Colby of Dayton presided, and remarks in appreciation of the gift were made by G. M. Peters, Esq., of Cincinnati and Miss Barker, dean of Shepardson college. Dr. W. H. Doane of Cincinnati, the donor, responded with feeling. An original song composed by Miss Montgomery of the Shepardson faculty in honor of Dr. Doane, was sung with filling of feet. It was as follows:

To Dr. Doane, the Donor.
(Air—Nut Brown Maiden.)
What do maidens above a kingdom's wealth desire,
What do maidens above such wealth desire?

Above all wealth they value health,
The sparkling eye, the ruby lip,
This do maidens above all else desire,
Where can maidens find these treasures ever find?

On bar and rope pursue they both,
They scale the heights, they sound the deeps;
There can maidens find these priceless treasures ever find,
There can maidens find these treasures ever find.

These same maidens the land secure oft do forsake,
These same maidens the land secure forsake,
In waters cool of swimming pool,
They laugh and splash—they sink and gasp!

Checks of roses and ruby lips they find,
Checks of roses down in the swimming pool,
Lo! these maidens now would joyous greeting give,
Lo! these maidens now would greeting give.

To him who knew what maidens could do,
On bar and rope, in dizzy whirl,
Lo! these maidens their benediction now would own,
Lo! these maidens would sing the name of Doane!

The young women, under the direction of Miss Adams then gave an

IRON AND TRADE REVIEW

Cleveland, O., April 19—The Iron Trade Review in its current issue says:

"The buying movement in pig iron and an improved tone prevails in and an improved tone prevails in practically all sections. Inquiries are much more numerous and are of noticeably larger volume. In many instances deliveries are specified well into the third quarter, and from present appearances considerable heavy business for the second half will shortly be placed. The coal strike has made itself felt in the east. Four or five anthracite furnaces in the Lehigh and Schuylkill districts have been allowed and two or three stacks in Central Pennsylvania using bituminous fuel have been banked. The southern iron condition has materially strengthened and $14 is apparently the minimum for current business. Pipe interests continue to take good tonnage. Two large producers are quoting No. 2 foundry at $16.50 valley, though other interests are first at $17, which is probably due to the fact that inability to secure Bessemer ore is forcing certain furnaces to run on foundry.

"One navigation on the lakes is now open, the first ore freighter reaching lower lake ports on Wednesday. Some good sales are reported during the past week, one for 65,000 tons of non-Bessemer, a few 25,000 tons and several scattered lots. Bessemer ore is practically unobtainable and other ores are well covered.

"The scarcity in crude steel is constantly becoming more serious, and several western bullet buyers are finding difficulty in covering their requirements.

"Sheet bars are so difficult to secure that the leading sheet and tin plate interest is planning to cut out operations in the near future.

"In structural materials specifications on contracts continue remarkably heavy and jobbers report great activity, but now business is comparatively light.

"Scrap has strengthened noticeably during the week, some good sales of heavy melting steel being reported in Chicago. Wire products are in better demand."

THE W. C. T. U.

A very good meeting was held on Tuesday afternoon in the United Brethren church on East Main street in charge of Mrs. Wright.

Mrs. Phillips led the half hour devotional and read a portion of the second chapter of Ephesians. This was a very helpful part of the service. Following were prayers and inspiring songs. First on the program was a duet by Mesdames Wright and Gault. In the absence of Rev. Bovey Miss Sisson gave an address on the great importance of total abstinence. Mrs. Brown gave a talk on prison and jail work and the great need of Sunday closing of saloons.

The business part was quickly taken up and disposed of. Next week's meeting will be held in the parlors of the First M. E. church in charge of Mrs. Harrington and the subject will be "Sabbath Observance." Everybody come.
